The definitions contained in section 2 of the "Workmen's Compensation Act" shall apply to these regulations.

1. These regulations shall apply to employers and workmen in any industry within the scope of the "Workmen's Compensation Act" in which workmen are employed in submarine diving.

Before a diver is allowed to go down from any vessel a red flag visible from all directions shall be hoisted and kept in position. Other signals to warn or slow down approaching vessels shall be used where advisable, and every precaution adopted to avoid fouling the diver.

5. All hand-pumps used to supply air to divers shall be inspected and tested for leakage and other losses, as indicated, or at least once a month. Such pumps shall be adjusted, maintained, repaired, and otherwise fitted to meet the requirements of Table No. 1 hereof. No hand-pump shall be used to supply air to any diver which under test shows loss or leakage greater than 25 per cent. at a pressure equivalent to a depth of 198 feet in salt water.

6. Gauges shall be tested every six months, or oftener, if indicated. Any error found in them shall be noted and a notice posted in a conspicuous place adjacent thereto, giving such gauge error, date of testing, and the name of the person making the test. Every diver and diver's attendant shall procure all data concerning the gauge error and leakage before using the gauges or pumps. Such information shall be supplied by the employer. All pumps and air-lines shall be tested each day before being put into use, by plugging up the end of the hose and subjecting the full line of hose and pump to double the pressure which they will be required to stand that day. During the test all joints shall be examined. A record of these tests and examinations, as outlined above, shall be kept by the diver or the diver's attendant in a special book for such purpose provided and retained by the employer.

7. All air-compressors used to supply air to divers shall be capable of maintaining a supply of air equal to at least double the pressure and volume of air required, and shall be automatic in operation without undue fluctuation of pressure in the air-tank or receiver. Compressors shall be operated by a skilled compressor attendant, who shall make sure that all equipment necessary to supply an adequate quantity of air to the diver is in good working-order; special care being given to valves, stop-valves, drain-cocks, gauges, and all parts liable to damage. He shall at all times stand by and co-operate closely with the diver and his attendant.

8. Compressors in use to supply air to divers shall discharge their air into a suitable tank or receiver. All tanks, fixtures, and fittings used in connection with diving operations shall meet all requirements of the "Boiler Inspection Act" and regulations. Such tanks shall be of sufficient capacity to ensure a plentiful supply of air to bring all divers safely back to normal pressure, and shall not be used for any other purpose. Every such tank shall be fitted with a non-return valve between itself and the compressor, a compound depth and pressure gauge in plain view, a drain-cock, and a separate connection and valve for each diver receiving air from such tank.

9. All hose, pipes, couplings, and other fittings in use in any air-supply line for divers shall be extra heavy and be kept free from rust, grit, or particles. Threads of all joints and ends of all pipes shall be clean and the joint itself shall be free from interruptions and tight. The ends of all pipes used for this purpose shall be reamed. Pipes shall be threaded with standard long V-pipe threads. Couplings shall be long and approved cement shall be used on all joints. All stationary air-lines shall be properly safeguarded against injury or interference. Each diver's air-line shall be arranged to deliver air to him from the tank or hand-pump entirely independent of and separate from any other air-supply line. A needle-valve of approved type shall be fitted in every diver's air-line. It shall be readily accessible and guarded against interference, clearly marked to identify the diver whose air-supply it controls, and under the care and control of a competent attendant. Each and every air-line while supplying air to any diver shall be fitted with a compound depth and pressure gauge installed in such a position that its dial figures are in clear and unobstructed view of the diver's attendant. A safety-valve of approved pattern shall also be installed in each diver's air-line between the needle-valve and the compound depth and pressure gauge. Such safety-valve shall be tested daily by the diver or his attendant. Sufficient length of air-line to provide for emergency difficulties of the diver shall be provided.

10. All parts and fittings of helmets and corselettes before being put to use shall be examined each day by the diver or his attendant. Helmets shall be fitted with a locking device. Light-pattern helmets shall not be used at depths greater than 7 fathoms.

11. The diver's attendant shall be a competent person. He shall devote his whole time and attention to his work as attendant while the diver is on duty.

12. Where a derrick is used to lower the diver into the water, such derrick shall not be used for any other purpose while the diver is on the line, and during such period all directions to the engineer in charge of such derrick, except the signal to stop, shall be given by the diver's attendant only.

13. The following code of signals shall be used by divers and their attendants:—

From Diver to Attendant.

On breast-rope—

- 1 pull means: "I am all right."
- 2 pulls mean: "Send me a slate."
- 3 pulls mean: "Send me a rope."
- 4 pulls mean: "I am coming up."

On air-pipe—

- 1 pull means: "Less air (ease pump)."
- 2 pulls mean: "More air (heave faster)."
- 3 pulls mean: "Take up slack pipe and breast-rope."
- 4 pulls mean: "Haul me up."

Working Signals or Bells.

On breast-rope—

- 1 bell means: "Hold on."
- 2 bells mean: "Pull up."
- 3 bells mean: "Lower."
- 4 bells mean: "You are holding me too tightly."

Where using a Stage.

On air-pipe—

- 1 pull means: "Foremost starboard rope."
- 2 pulls mean: "After starboard rope."
- 3 pulls mean: "Foremost port rope."
- 4 pulls mean: "After port rope."

(Followed in each case by the ordinary "pull up" or "lower" signal.)

SIGNALS FROM ATTENDANTS TO DIVERS.

Direction Signals.

On air-pipe—

- 1 pull means: "Search (or remain) where you are."
- 2 pulls mean: "Go straight ahead."
- 3 pulls mean: "Go to the right."
- 4 pulls mean: "Go to the left."

The "right" and "left" signals shall be obeyed as follows: On receiving three pulls the diver shall face his own shot-rope, or whatever corresponds to it, and then move to his own right. On getting four pulls, he shall face his shot-rope and then go to his left.

On breast-rope—

- 1 pull means: "Are you all right?"
- 2 pulls mean: "Am sending a slate."
- 3 pulls mean: "You have come up too far. Go down slowly till we stop you."
- 4 pulls mean: "Come up."

"FOUL" SIGNALS.

Foul signals may be made on either air-pipe or breast-rope, whichever is clear. Two bells, repeated several times quickly, mean that the diver is foul, and requires the assistance of another diver. Three bells repeated several times in quick succession mean that the diver is foul, but can clear himself if left alone.

Where the air-pipe and breast-rope are made into one line by seizings to avoid fouling, the following signals shall be used:—

From Diver.

On breast-rope and air-pipe together—

- 1 pull means: "I am all right."
- 2 pulls mean: "Send me a slate."
- 3 pulls mean: "Send me a rope."
- 4 pulls mean: "I am coming up."

From Attendant.

- 1 pull means: "Are you all right?"
(When diver is ascending, 1 pull means "Stop.")
- 2 pulls mean: "Look out for the rope or slate which we are now lowering."
- 3 pulls mean: "You have come up too far. Go down slowly till we stop you."
- 4 pulls mean: "Come up."

The signals for "Pull up" "Lower," and "Hang on" shall be the same as usual, except that they will be made on the air-pipe and rope together.

Other signals may be arranged between diver and attendant to suit the exigencies of the work in hand. Where advisable, helmets may be fitted with a reliable telephone system of at least one direction and of approved type.

14. Weights shall be designed, constructed, and maintained to avoid accidental slipping, but shall be adapted so as to be easily slipped in an emergency.

15. No life-line or breast-rope shall be used which has not strength equal to good-quality white manila rope $\frac{3}{4}$ inch diameter.

16. Diving-dress shall be of approved pattern, in good condition and repair, and shall be kept clean and sanitary, air-tight and water-tight, and shall be well aired and warmed before being put on by the diver.

17. Each diver shall be provided with and shall carry a strong sharp steel knife in a metal sheath. He shall wear a good strong waist-belt outside his diving-dress.

18. Boots used by divers shall be patterned and constructed to ensure their staying on under water when properly fastened.

19. All air, electrical, hydraulic, mechanical, oil, steam, and other equipment used in diving-work shall be maintained in good working condition.

20. The maximum time under water, including ascents, in any twenty-four hours shall be divided into two shifts. There shall be a rest interval in open air between shifts. The maximum time under water, including ascent, for each shift at the various pressures shall be that shown opposite such pressures in Column 7 of Table 1. The minimum rest interval in open air between the shifts for the various pressures shall be that shown opposite such pressures in Column 8 of Table 1. In no case shall the rest interval taken in conjunction with the meal period be less than one hour. The procedure for and the time in which the diver shall be brought to the surface from various depths shall be that given in Table No. 1. A diver shall not come up from the bottom to the first stopping-place at a rate faster than 1 foot per second.

21. When because of accidental or unavoidable circumstances any diver has been detained under pressure beyond the limits set out in Table No. 1 for the various depths, the procedure for and the time in which the diver shall be brought to the surface from various depths shall be that given in Table No. 2.

22. When because of accidental or unavoidable circumstances any diver is brought to the surface without having been decompressed according to the procedure and time specified by these regulations, the diver shall immediately be placed under water to the depth from which he came too rapidly and then brought to the surface in the time specified in the tables for that depth, or he shall be given the necessary recompression and decompression in a medical lock or recompression chamber.

23. Save in case of accidental or unavoidable circumstances, no diver shall be permitted to remain at any depth longer than the maximum time specified for that depth in Table No. 2.

24. A log or record of each dive shall be kept by the diver's attendant and filed with the employer at the end of each day's work.

25. The air-supply intake shall be so placed that the air supplied to divers shall be free from gasoline, Diesel-engine or other gases, or objectionable materials.

26. When diving operations are carried on under conditions or in locations which are specially hazardous or to a greater depth than 114 feet, or where a second diving crew and equipment is not available on call within two hours, the assistance of a second diving crew and equipment shall be arranged for beforehand and be immediately available.

27. Before any workman shall be employed as a diver he shall be examined by a physician and reported to the employer to be physically fit for such work on the form prescribed by the Board.

28. A diver shall not be employed continuously in diving-work for a longer period than one month, unless a re-examination by the physician shows him to be physically fit to continue such work.

29. Any workman employed as a diver, who has not worked as such for a period of two consecutive months, shall not be employed unless re-examination by a physician shows him to be physically fit to resume work.

30. Where a diver is employed on work at pressures greater than 59 lb., he shall be medically examined before starting work, and again upon having completed the working-time allowed for the first twenty-four hours, and at least once every ten days thereafter as long as such work continues.

31. All medical reports required hereunder shall be in such form as may be from time to time prescribed by the Board, and shall contain in detail all the information therein required. The examining physician shall furnish copy of such reports to the employer.

32. All medical examinations and reports required hereunder shall be made at the expense of the employer.

33. An adequate first-aid kit shall be maintained at the work and a sufficient supply of hot coffee, sugar, and utensils shall be provided by the employer to his divers at the termination of shifts and during rest periods. Where possible, adequate sanitary accommodation shall be provided.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

PRIVATE BILLS.

EXCERPT FROM STANDING ORDERS RELATING TO PRIVATE BILLS.

100. (1.) All applications to the Legislative Assembly for Private Bills of any nature whatsoever shall require the publication of a notice clearly and distinctly specifying the nature and object of the application, and when the application refers to any proposed work, indicating sufficiently the location of the work, to be signed by or on behalf of the applicant.

(2.) Such notice shall be published in the British Columbia Gazette and once a week in one leading daily newspaper freely circulating in all parts of the Province. The notice in such newspaper to appear on Wednesday of each week.

(3.) When the proposed Bill is of such a nature that it may particularly affect one or more electoral districts, the notice shall furthermore be published once a week if possible in some newspaper in every electoral district affected, or if there be no newspaper published therein, then in a newspaper published in the electoral district nearest thereto.

(4.) The publication of such notice shall in all cases be continued for a period of four weeks during the interval of time between the close of the next preceding Session and the consideration of the petition.

97.
